

Making Stepfamilies Work - 1 Day Workshop

West Leederville

Step and blended families present a whole array of challenges that are different to those found in a biological family. The journey can be difficult, exciting, rewarding and much more. For your family to succeed, it is about adjusting your expectations to match the reality. This workshop will provide some guidelines to help you make decisions suitable for your unique family.

This one-day workshop explores:

- How parenting in a stepfamily differs from parenting in a biological family
- Who does what – creating new parenting roles
- Understanding the needs of the children and ways to manage difficult dynamics
- How to nourish the couple bond and work as a team.

This workshop is a condensed version of our 5-week course, Making Stepfamilies Work.
